

Pawsibilities

Presents

TTouch (Tellington TTouch) 3 Day Workshop for Companion Animals

Would you like to improve your relationship with animals?
Solve problems with your pet without stress? Consider a second career?

TTouch will deepen the relationship between you and your pet – whether cat, dog, bird, rabbit, reptile or guinea pig.

TTouch Training is a gentle, respectful and effective approach to the care and training of companion animals.

TTouch alleviates common behavioural issues such as leash pulling, jumping up, fear biting, submissiveness, shyness, resistance to grooming, hyperactivity, excessive barking and fear of loud noises.

TTouch supports veterinary care, enhances health and wellbeing, reduces stress and speeds up healing after injury or illness.

TTouch gives you new tools to improve your dog's performance and pleasure in competition or service.

This seminar is suited to:

- Dog Owners
- Dog Trainers
- Dog Training Assistants
- Shelter Workers
- Animal Rescue Groups
- Veterinarians
- Vet Nurses
- Groomers
- Pet Shop Staff
- Anyone with an interest in dogs!

TTOUCH
TELLINGTON TTOUCH TRAINING
with Companion Animals

Andy's Bio:

Andy Robertson is a Tellington-TTouch Instructor, Motivational Trainer and Feldenkrais practitioner.

Andy was introduced to TTEAM about 25 years ago when she went to an evening demonstration. The lady presenting this method did not touch a person or an animal but had participants pair up and she gave direction from the floor. At that stage Andy thought she was ready for a change as she was uncomfortable with the way we were training our dogs and this just felt "right". Andy now knows that in making a change how she touched her own dog from that day onwards has benefited all the other animals that she has since come in contact with.

As a Motivational Trainer Andy uses TTouch when she runs Puppy classes, Teen and Adult classes. Andy teaches workshops and one on one sessions. Andy mainly works with dogs but has had occasion to work with some wildlife. Andy's special interest is with the animals that lack the basic social skills they need to live in society. Most of these dogs are reactive to many issues. The owners find it is very interesting that with use of the TTouch and the ground work how changes can be made which affect both of them.

What to expect from this workshop

The workshop and trainings offer a lot of hands-on practice and help with your own animal if you want to bring one. It is expected that the majority of participants will want to bring a dog to the training although it is not required.

You will learn how to observe the many, sometimes very subtle ways that animals let us know how they feel about what we do with them. This helps us to determine the most effective ways of helping them.

The course will cover many TTouch techniques, helping you to develop skills in working with animals in ways that are kind, clear, safe, and effective, and which help to restore the physical, mental (focus) and emotional balance of the animal.

We will also discuss the principles behind TTouch, so that you can become creative in problem-solving.

Program Information

All dogs participating must be crate trained and/or be able to sit with other dogs for long periods.

When: Saturday 26 August to Monday 28 August 2017

Where: Mackay, Queensland – venues to be advised.

Cost: Early Bird discount and also discount for Rescue Workers who present relevant identification or support letter from RSPCA, MARS, etc.

See Registration form to select program options.